Cedar Cove (History)

Our rapidly developing brewery district was once known by another name – Cedar Cove. This historic part of Vancouver’s Grandview-Woodland neighbourhood, located on the shores of Burrard Inlet, north of Hastings between Nanaimo and Clark, was originally called Khupkhahpay’ay by the Coast Salish people, a reference to cedar trees. During the mid to late 1800s this area saw a lot of development as industry began to populate the inlet. By the 1890s Cedar Cove was booming and experienced an influx of residential and commercial settlements. The first brewery in the area (Columbia Brewery) was located near the present-day Powell Street and Wall Street. The district was also home to several mills, a slaughterhouse and other resource facilities. This development boosted the demand for local residences and businesses and soon wealthy families began purchasing lots in the Broadway area.

How to get Here

Bike: If you’re traveling by bike, feel free to park your ride at any of the many bike racks in the area. We have marked some of them on the map with an orange dot. ●

Bus: If you’re traveling Eastbound from

Downtown Vancouver hop on the 004 or 007, which both take you directly to Powell St. If you’re feeling like a walk, jump on the 016 or the 014, which both stop along Hastings Street. Stops are marked on the map with a blue dot. ●

If you’re traveling Westbound, it’s just as simple. Take the 007 directly to Powell Street, or the 016 and the 014 which both stop along Hastings Street.

Transit riders heading North take the 020.

Featured Breweries:

Parallel 49:

Founded in 2012 and prides itself on being East Van Born and Brewed. They are now distributed widely in BC, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and the US. Their tasting room, open from 12pm – 11pm daily, features up to ten of their award winning brews on tap at any given time.

Coal Harbour Brewing Company:

Since brewing their beers in 2011, Coal Harbour Brewing Company is a well-known local favourite which can be found in government and specialty liquor stores across the lower mainland. Coal Harbour currently brews six flavours of beers, which cater to the palates of all beer drinkers.

Odd Society:

Odd Society is a unique distillery which combines “Old World distilling traditions, with New World ingredients” to create many spirits including whiskey, vodka and gin. Founder, Gordon Glanz studied distillation in Edinburgh and uses his skills to create one-of-a-kind spirits.

Powell Street Craft Brewery:

PSCB originally opened in 2012, is run by a husband and wife team who are focused on producing high quality, full flavoured handcrafted beers using all natural, and preferably, local ingredients. PSCB is also known for their art gallery wall in the tasting lounge, showcasing various local artists.

Storm Brewing:

James Walton opened this infamous East Vancouver brewery in 1994 and today he continues to brew some of the most interesting and delicious beers in the City. Storm is known for their weekly rotating “Brainstorm” brews.

Bomber Brewing:

Bomber Brewing began as a dream between friends who share a passion for playing hockey and savouring good beer. The brewery opened its doors in 2014. Bomber Brewing is known for it’s award winning craft beer including their CDA, ESB and Best Bitter.

Callister Brewing:

Founded by Chris Lay and Diana McKenzie, Callister Brewing is a co-working brewery incubator, offering a unique experience with three additional brewers (Machine Ales, Brewery Creek Brewing and Real Cask Brewing) operating alongside Callister. Callister offers an eclectic mix, but mostly focuses on European beer styles. Callister also makes handcrafted soda and tonic on-site, offering mixed cocktails with local spirits.

Doan’s Craft

A family run brewery in the heart of the East Van. The Doan’s family is inspired by great beer, the art and science of craft brewing and the community created by the craft beer movement. Doan’s Craft has a selection of beers, two of which are of the German influence - Prost!

Andina Brewing Company:

Andina Brewing Company was founded by Colombian/Canadian brothers, Andrés and Nicolás Amaya. The pair offer a new concept in the local craft beer market. This brewery offers an environment that is a unique blend of South America and Canadian flavours.
